Hi Amy,

I own the basement/ground floor flat at 121 Fortress Road and in particular would like to object to the roof terraces proposed. Although I think it is important that people have access to outdoor space, creating access effectively for 2 families as well as a balcony for a third where the original intention, and every adjoining property is for one will lead to excessive noise, and be a detriment to many.

From the proposals there is a decrease in light into an already dark basement flat at 121 and now the terrace on the Ground floor allows a direct line of sight into a child's bedroom to compound the inevitable increase in noise adjoining that bedroom.

I would respectfully request that you do not allow these terraces, the expansion of the property is already significant without layering these on top as well.

Kind regards

Steve
