2022/0784/P	N. Durack	05/05/2022 18:01:24	OBJ	This installation would have both visual and aural adverse impacts on the Belsize Park Gardens streetscape. Visually the appeal of the street lies in the impressive facades of the buildings, and boxes and other adhoc enclosures directly facing the street (as this would) would both look unappealing and reduce the uniformity of the streetscape. Aurally condensers typically give off a humming noise, which would also be detrimental to the area. Finally, if approved this could set a precedent whereby houses all along the street request similar approvals, a road full of street facing condensers should be strenuously resisted. If the applicant insists on installing air conditioning can they not find a more suitable place for the condensor (e.g., to the rear or side)?
