I am writing, [REDACTED], to offer conditional support for the installation of pv panels on three houses for Doughty Street Chambers in their admirable quest for energy efficiency.

The conditions are that in all respects the works are as stated entirely reversible, that no exterior cabling is involved and in the hopes that anything flagged as visible from street level will be minimal. (I must add that the drawings in regard to the latter are virtually unreadable - I have returned to them time and again - which means I must write this letter in good faith.)

best wishes,

Gillian Darley
