Attractive group with timber sash windows, stucco window surrounds, first floor iron balconies, panelled doors with decorative console brackets and projecting cornice and lightwell railings largely intact. In same form as terrace around the corner in Jamestown Road.
Ref456:  (Click here to return to the ward map)	Address: The Buck's Head, 202 Camden High Street Significance: Architectural, Townscape and Social Significance Asset Type: Building or Group of Buildings Ward: Camden Town with Primrose Hill	Mid 19th century public house on corner of Camden High Street and Buck Street which provides a visual termination to the contemporary terrace to its north and emphasis to the corner. Stone frontage with pilasters which include brackets in the shape of bucks' heads; Victorian street numbering above former corner entrance, and brewery name panel at first floor level add interest to the building's plain yet high quality design.
