Dear Planning

I am writing to protest about the proposed misery and potential death that this application Nbr above of Great Ormond Street if granted will inflict upon local residents. We have already put up with the dreaded noise pollution from its air conditioning and now will choke slowly to death with all the toxicity that will come from the construction.

I am 61 years old, recovering from cancer and a stroke and also asthmatic. How do you propose I live for the next 5 years if these works go ahead. The area already has enough pollution from emissions from our main roads. Can the council guarantee that my lungs will not suffer or must that be for courts to decide.

Has a medical survey been undertaken on this planning application? I would like to have a copy.

I have cited my case but I urge you to think of the population and urge for a cancellation of this plan. There are options to build away from the residential area and I am shocked and appalled that despite all the charitable contributions I have given to GOSH over the years that they treat us residents with such disdain and inconsideration. As a medical institution I would have expected more consideration as they know more than anyone how this will damage the health of residents. I ask you that you consider the impact on residents and in particular the damage to lungs, not just for me but also healthy individuals who also have a right to clean air.

Thanking you in advance

Williamina Dickson
