It's a thriving business which contributes to our community &amp; a community increasingly hollowed out by non-domiciled rent seekers who look to profit from this area without ever giving anything back. As a successful local amenity, York Way Fish Bar pays rent and rates and provides a lovely hub for people looking to enjoy takeaway and chat to our fellow locals. There are so many empty properties that could be used to build truly affordable homes for Camden residents. But this isn't such a case. The property is in use and there's no good reason to kick out a great local business for the opportunity for landowners to make more money.
