2022/4110/P	Jean Glynn	06/02/2023 15:51:51	APP	I have just been notified that my neighbour at 4 Glenbrook Road has requested 'minor' alterations for his recently refurbished house. Why now after 7 months work do they need these alterations when I understood that planning permission had been refused in the original plans some 18months/2 years ago for similar work to be carried out. Having just been through the disruption of building works over these last months, and with concerns still outstanding regarding the party wall - the surveyor has yet to produce his report - I would not wish for any further work to take place which would infringe on my property and privacy. According to the party wall surveyor who visited my home at the end of January, the building of this dormer was constructed on the party wall which was not mentioned in the plans approved by the council. I am not sure who was in charge of inspecting the property but there are a few details that will need attention. I would be very happy to meet with any of your Inspectors. In the meantime, I formally request that this application be refused and no further work undertaken to the dormer or flat roof.
