-Finchley Road tube station is at capacity now, so how can it serve an additional influx of commuters?

Sainsburys is the nearest, large supermarket and removing it will pose challenges to many customers who do not have cars to go elsewhere.

-Already walking on the high St in West Hampstead is crowded.

-As a local resident, I am extremely worried about the drop in standard of living and quality of life. It already is so challenging, and this will exacerbate this. Understand that new housing is required but it has to improve people's lives, not make it more difficult for new and existing residents.

Please can my personal details be redacted.

Many thanks

I believe you are considering a planning application no: 2022/0538/P

I trust you realise what a ridiculous proposal this would be, especially in view of the over-development in Camden and in this area.

Camden is suffering unacceptably from this sort of project, and especially in West End Lane which cannot now cope, with the surrounding area being hopelessly over-crowded.

There is not enough infrastructure available already to provide enough medical or educational needs.

Such massive proposals would be harmful, especially to children's health due to any such over-crowding.

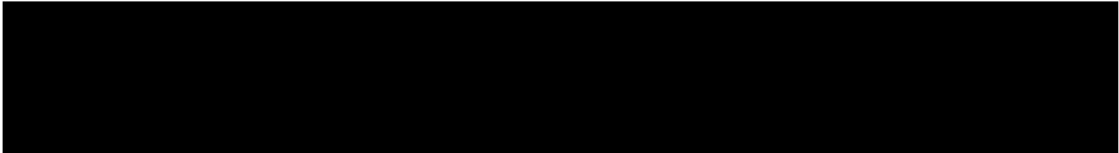

To destroy Sainsburys and Homebase would be appalling. Current residents, especially the elderly and disabled, need access to a supermarket and car park for their bulky shopping. Where would you suggest they go otherwise? There is nowhere.

Your reputation depends on a feasible decision being taken.

Dear Mr Fowler --

I am writing to register in the strongest possible terms my objections to the proposed redevelopment of the O2 center on Finchley Road. I have read the Planning Representations from the Confederation of Local Community Groups in relation to this horrible, unsustainable, Soviet-style redevelopment, and I agree in full with the Confederation's detailed objections to the planning application.

yours sincerely --
